

RCWP Writers Workshop

Advanced Institute June 22-25, 2015

Join us for the 5th annual Red Cedar Writing Project Writers Workshop Advanced Institute!

*Feed your inner writer this summer
on the beautiful campus of Michigan State University.*

When you are grading a pile of student work or zoning out during a staff meeting, do you find yourself staring out the window, wishing you were writing instead? Would you rather work on a novel, memoir, or poem? This summer, you can finally do just that.

It's time to write.

On June 22-25, 2015, RCWP is offering a four-day advanced institute focused on you as a writer. Our mornings will start with prompted sacred writing time and conversations about writing. The largest part of each day will be spent just writing, and we will close with writing group feedback sessions or read-arounds. Many writers workshops offer a range of activities, but we know that teachers who write need TIME more than anything else. This workshop gives you 3-4 hours every day of nothing but writing time!

Naturally, as is RCWP tradition, we will do all of the above with chocolate and snacks nearby. Everyone is welcome—both returning teacher-consultants and teachers who have not yet been able to participate in an invitational summer institute.

The Details:

Time: 9:00 am – 3:30 pm, Monday-Thursday, June 22-25, 2015

Cost: Due to NWP grant funding, this year we're able to offer participants a free parking permit for a ramp or lot on MSU's campus PLUS a $50 stipend to honor your professionalism and help offset the costs of attending. Lunch will be on your own.

Location: Classroom 12C in Berkey Hall, which is between Olin Health Center and the new art museum on the MSU campus

Interested? Register at <http://goo.gl/forms/uYDD6dFYBR>
Have a question? Email Mitch Nobis at mnobis@gmail.com.

Registration deadline: June 1, 2015. Space is limited, so act now! Registration is on a first-come, first-served basis.